DANGEROUS CONDITION. Frank Ellison has been arrested for his outrageous assault on William H. Henriques on inday night, and late yesterday afternoon Police Justice Grady committed him to the Jefferson Market Prison without bail. Dr. Gererdus H. Wynkoop, of No. 128 Madison-ave., Mr. Henriques's physician, testified that the patient was still in danger of death from shock and could not be considered certain of recovery for four or five days. Dr. Wynkoop thought, however, that the assaulted man would get well. The great, ruthanly Ellison was arrested on Tuesday about 6 p. m. On that afternoon Mrs. Leila O. Neame, daughter of the victim of Ellisen's cowardly brutality, and her counsel, A. H. Hummel, called on Superintendent Byrnes at Police Headquarters to tell him that Mr. Henriques was in a serious condition. Superintendent knew the habits of the assailan d the places be frequented, and at once de tailed six detectives to find him. Each was assigned to a post at some spot which Ellison was likely to visit.

Detective-Sergeant Hickey was ordered to watch the man's home, No. 324 Fifth-ave. Hickey knew Eilison personally. Soon after 6 o'clock the police officer caught sight of Ellison's big, face paring furtively out of the window of The vehicle was at Thirty-third-st., just above No. 324, and was going down the avenue. Ellison saw the detective and recognized him at once. He ordered the cab driver to stop his horse, and said to Hickey, who walked up to the door of the cab:

"Hello, Hickey. Are you looking for me?"
"Yes," answered the detective.

ARREST OF THE FUGITIVE. "I was just on my way to see my lawyer, explained Ellison. Detective McCluskey was not far away when the arrest was made, and he walked up to the two men. Ellison quietly accompanied them to Folice Headquarters. Superintendent Byrnes had gone home and no announce ment of the arrest was made until yesterday

The prisoner spent the night in an ordinary cell, and was brought before Superintendent Byrnes in the morning. Then he was sent to the Jefferson Market Police Court in the charge of Detectives Hickey and McCluskey. In reply to a question about his infuriated attack on Mr. riques, Ellison said: "You don't want a man to be shot down in the street, do you? He shot at me, and I smashed him as hard as I knew I was walking along Thirty-ninth-st., and we saw one another at the same time. I said 'Hello' and he said 'Hello.' Then he drew a revolver and fired, and I hit him. I did not kick him or jab him with my cane. I have three witnesses to the fact that he shot at me before

I raised my hand to him."

In the police court neither Ellison nor his counsel, Charles W. Brocke, would say anything to reporters about their side of the case. The prisoner was arraigned before Police Justice Grady. A. H. Hummel, for the family of Mr. Henriques, offered an affidavit by Dr. Wynkoop, made on Tuesday, saying that the injured man was in a serious condition from the assault, and could not be present in court for some time. Mr. Brooke wanted the justice to fix bail, but the hearing was adjourned until Mrs. Neame could be summoned by Mr. Hummel.

MRS. NEAME'S AFFIDAVIT.

the daughter arrived in court she was faint and evidently in great distress. Mr. Hum-mel supported her. "He is dying," she gasped to the justice. "There is no hope. Three physicians are in attendance." Mrs. Neame then by an effort regained her strength. She made the following affidavit:

lowing affidavit:

Lelia O. Neame, of No. 94 Park-ave., being duly sworn, deposes and says that on the seventh day of June, 1803, at the City of New-York, in the County of New-York, her father, William H. Henriques, is confined to his bed suffering from wounds inflicted by Frank Ellison; that her said father, William H. Henriques, is at present in a dying condition and uniques, is at present in a dying condition and uniques, is at present in a dying condition and uniques, is at present in a dying condition and uniques, is at present in a dying condition and uniques, is at present in a dying condition and uniques, is at present in a dying condition and uniques, is at present in a dying condition and uniques, is at present in a dying condition and uniques. conscious, the result of said wounds so inflicted by said Ellison, and deponent, who has been at her father's bedside for the past twelve consecutive hours, knows that her father has been delirious during said period, and that at the present time he is attended by three physicians, Dr. Wynkoop, Dr. Webster and another doctor, whose name deponent caunot now remember: that deponent has been informed by tone of said doctors that he cannot answer for the life of her said father, and will not be able to declare her father out of danger for at least two days. That since 8 o'clock this morning her father's condition has sheem worse, and deponent fears he is in imminent danger of losing his life by reason of said felonious assault perpetrated by said Frank Ellison.

Mr. Hummel also submitted an affidavit of James McMahon, coachman, of No. 18 West Thirty-eighth-st., who is employed in the stables nearly opposite the Union League Club. McMahon said he saw Ellison standing over the prostrate form of Mr. Henriques, beating him with a stick.

ELLISON TREMENDOUSLY POWERFUL.

Ellison, in reply to the usual questions of the clerk of the court, said that he was forty-three years old, was born in the United States, lived at No. 324 Fifth-ave., and had lived there for two years. He said he had no statement to make about the case. Ellison wore a pink shirt riques, is at present in a dying condition and unconscious, the result of said wounds so inflicted by said Ellison, and deponent, who has been at her father's bedside for the past twelve consecutive hours, knows that her father has been delirious during said period, and that at the present time he is attended by three physicians, Dr. Wynkoop, Dr. Webster and another doctor, whose name deponent cannot now remember; that deponent has been informed by one of said doctors that he cannot answer for the life of her said father, and will not be able to declare her father out of danger for at least two days. That since 8 o'clock this morning her father's condition has become worse, and deponent fears he is in imminent danger of losing his life by reason of said felonious assault perpetrated by said Frank Ellison.

Mr. Humulel also submitted an affidavit of James McMahon, coachman, of No. 18 West two years. He said he had no statement to about the case. Ellison were a pink shirt with a white collar, and a pink necktie. His features are large and all their lines coarse. His shoulders are tremendously broad and he looked able to handle with ease both the detectives who stood by him. Mr. Henriques is over sixty years old and not even strong for his age, and no more s physical match for a towering brute like Ellison than a schoolboy would have been. That such a giant should not only strike a feeble. man with his fist, but kick him again and again in the head when he was down and try to gouge his eye out with his stick, seemed inibly revolting. Leprosy could not have made the great fellow seem more horrible to one who knew about his beastlike venting of his rage on Mr. Henriques. Justice Grady said that he could not admit the assailant to bail as his victim might die, and Ellison would have to be tried for murder in the first degree. Mr. Brooke said that he would like to get more recent information about Mr. Henriques's condition than that contained in Wynkoop's affidavit of Tuesday. Justice Grady therefore adjourned the hearing until 4 p. m., so that Dr. Wynkoop could be subpoensed come to court. At the appointed hour Ellison was brought into the private room of Justice Grady by the two etives. Mr. Brooke was there, and so was Mr. Hummel, who accompanied Mrs. Neame. District-Attorney Nicoll showed his appreciation of the gravity of Ellison's crime by sending L. Wellman, his assistant, to whom he intrusts the most important cases, to represent the District-Attorney's office. When Dr. Wynkoop arrived he was at once placed on the witness stand. He said that he had been a practising physician for twenty-seven or twentyeight years. He was attending Mr. Henriques, who was suffering from shock consequent upon the injuries he received. MR. HENRIQUES IN DANGER. "What is his condition now?" asked Justice

"It is dangerous," was the answer. "What are the probabilities as to his recovery or death?" "It will take some time-four or five days, and possibly longer-before I can say he is out of

"With careful nursing and good medical attendance what will be the probable outcome of his injuries?" asked Mr. Brooke.

"I cannot measure the probabilities in figures, but I think that he will recover."

"But at present his life is in danger?" put in Mr. Wellman.

"Yes. sir. The fact is that he is an old man, over sixty, and old for his years. Some men are much stronger than he at his age. There was so much shock that he has not recovered from it."

was so much shock that he has not recovered from it."

So it is the shock and what follows in its train that cause the precarious condition?" suggested Mr. Wellman,

The physician assented to this. He said further that Mr. Henriques was conscious the greater part of the time, but had much difficulty in asticulation. After a few words with Mrs. Neame Mr. Wellman announced that since the physician's last visit to Mr. Henriques's bedside the patient had again become unconscious. "The case is clearly under the section prohibiting a committing magistrate from admitting to bail," declared the Assistant District-Attorney.

COMMITTED WITHOUT BAIL.

Justice Grady said: "The case comes so closely to the line where a police justice is prohibited from giving bail that I would rather let some other authority pass upon the question. If my decision were final I might hesitate about refus-ing to admit to bail, but I shall refer you to the decision were limit it lings to the supreme Court."

The examination was set for Saturday at 10 a. m., and Ellison was committed to the Jetterson Market Prison. Mr. Brooke said that he would get a writ of habeas corpus for his client in the Supreme Court to-day, and try to have bail fixed. Mr. Henriques had a fainting it yesterday morning, and his wife and daughter were so alarmed that they sent for two physicians besides Dr. Wynkoop. The patient was delirious for a time, but later he recovered consciousness.

Last night Mr. Henriques had another brief fainting fit, but the family were not so ightened over it as they had been when that of yesterday occurred. Dr. Wynkoop gave the impression that the fainting was not a serious matter and that the alarm about it was uncalled for. Mr. Henriques was conscious enough last night to wish to have his wife at his bedside constantly. There is a trained nurse in the house, but the patient shows his disastisfaction when she takes his wife's place at his bedside.

MR. CLEVELAND WAS WORRIED

THE FINANCIAL OUTLOOK ON MONDAY DIS-TURBED HIM.

HIS ANNOUNCEMENT AS TO AN EXTRA SESSION PROBABLY MADE TO ALLAY APPREHENSION.

Washington, June 7.—There is reason to believe that President Cleveland's announcement of his purpose to convene Congress in special session not later than September 15 was hastened, if not precipitated, by the stormy appearance of the financial sky on Monday, and that if like conditions shall recur he will either call a session earlier than the time mentioned, or will exercise all the authority given to him by law to avert a general panic. There is no doubt whatever that he, as well as members of the Cabinet who were in Washngton, were greatly alarmed by the reports received on Monday afternoon, and there is little reason to doubt that the interview with the President was published in order, if possible, to allay apprehension and distrust, and to bridge over what seemed to be a serious as well as sudden emergency. There was a better feeling among members of the Administration to-day, and the President was said to feel confident that they are going to be able to get ough without a bond issue until Congress meets.

BLOUNT'S VIEWS NOT OFFICIALLY KNOWN HERE. Washington, June 7.-Secretary Gresham has re-ceived no information from Minister Blount that warrants the conclusion that the latter is prepared to incorse all that has been done in Hawali, and tast he is now strongly inclined to recommend at least the establishment of a United States protectorate over the Hawaiian Islands. The Secretary is also in official ignorance of the reported interference of Claus Spreckels in behalf of the restoration of the monarchy and of his insistance upon the repayment by the Provisional Government of money advanced by him to the late monarchy. The secretary is, of course, in receipt of information from Mr. Ideum that he does not feel justified in publishing, but he feels no hesita-tion in denying the accuracy of the above report.

URGED TO RETALIATE AGAINST GERMANY. Washington, June 7.—Information comes from Jermany that certain interests there are petitioning the Reichstag for an increase of duties upon certain products of the United States. The American inerests thus assailed are conferring freely with members of Congress and urging upon them the pro-priety of considering this fact, while framing a bill for a modification of the McKinley tariff. Many of these members agree that if duties on American products are to be increased in Germany they will oppose any reduction of the duties on German products imported into the United States.

RUSSIA WILL SEND AN AMBASSADOR. Washington, June 7.-The Secretary of State to day received notice of the intention of the Russian Government to raise the rank of its mission here to an embassy. It is not known yet whether the present Russian Minister, Prince Catacuzene, will succeed to the office of Ambassador, and in view of the fact that his experience in the diplomatic service has not been of long duration, it is thought possible that Russia, like Germany, may send some older diplomat as Ambussador.

EXCITEMENT IN NEWARK'S BOARD OF WORKS. The Board of Works of Newark held a meeting late yesterday afternoon to hear protests against the granting of franchises to the Consolidated Traction Company for a large number of streets for trolley roads. Many protestors were present. Counsel Hardin, for the Consolidated Traction Company, com-roads. Many protestors were present.

Hardin, for the Consolkiated Traction Company, commented upon the fact that Wilbar Mott, counsel for the South Orange road, an opposition line, appeared as one of the protestors. He recalled the time when the mpid transit ecompany of which Mott was a promoter and appealed to the Common Council for a franchise for that company, and had promised the Common Council that his company was not for apeculative purposes, but would remain in the banks of the original corporators.

Mott arose in great anger to reply. He declared that what had been said was a graintious insult. Mr. Hardin, he added, would not like him to relate the story of how the heavy hand of power had forced the rapid trunsit company to sell cut. That power had already murdered one street rallroad company with which he was now connected. He regretted to say that the settlement which it was expected would be made between the Consolidated and South Orange companies had not been accomplished. The words of the counsel caused a profound senantion. The board took no action.

KENTIGERNA IN FRONT.

EDWARD KELLY HAS A FAST FILLY.

LEIPNER SUCCESSFUL IN THE CHERRY DIAMOND HANDICAP.

To make amends for the seething heat of Tuesday, June was gracious on the seventh day of the spring meeting at Morris Park, and the air was exceptionably agreeable. The usual extensive array of racing en-thusiasts saw the sport at the great racecourse. Edward Kelly, owner of Kentigerna, a fast filly, by Greenland, out of Edisto, received many hearty con-gratulations, as Greenland's daughter defeated soprano, Lady Rosemary, Glance and others of her sex and age so impressively in the fifth race as to indicate that she is probably the best of the two-year-old filles. If she confirms her superiority in later races Mr. Kelly will naturally be much gratified, since he bred her himself. All turfmen of experience renember Greenland, who won a number of well-known stakes for George L. Lorillard, but who was on the u:f at the same time with ilindoo, and was Let a match for that imperial racer. Mr. Kelly owns Greenland, and has bred several mares to him. Kentigerna is out of Edisto, a mare by Enquirer out of Bubee, who was by Bonnie scotland. Mr. Kelly is one of the most popular of American turfmen, and if Kentigerna, with her odd Irish name, proves to be the queen of the many a New-York club.

A Longfellow filly named Nahma excited general surprise by running second to Kentigerna, with ex-travagant odds against her. She carried the Morris for the Cherry Diamond Handicap, at a mile and a sixteenth, with $1,500 added money. This was captured with so striking ease by the favorite, sleipner, that the respect of the handicapper for this son of Mortemer rose to boiling point in an instant. It was not clear beyond dispute before the race that Sleipner had been tossed into this handicap, but it was painfully evident while the running was in progress. Loantaka, winner of the Suburban of 1891, has fallen o far below his former high estate that with only 107 Bs. on his back he could do no better than run but with 119 hs. in the saddle he did not exhibit nearly as much speed as when he ran egainst Banquet the other day. If Picknicker had been in the hands of a jockey of high-class, he might have been formidable in this race, but with Pickering as his pilot he yawed and veered and jibed about like a bumbont two-year-olds, a selling race, with Professor S, while the favorite, Meddler, ridden in a feeble and faltering way by Littlefield, got second money.

It was an unlucky day for Michael F. Dwyer, and it was reported in the betting ring that he lost $25,000. Hammie, in the second race, cost him a big race, and Mr. Dwyer plunged on him, but even Taral could not get Mr. Galway's gray gelding to run kindly, and M. F. Dwyer's coll. Harvest lost Mr. Dwyer a great deal of money by defeating Adelbert.

The Keene colors have been seen at the front in many races this year, and the Keene coll Restraint was victorious in the second race, a few minutes before Foxhall Keene reached this port on the Majestie. The favorite in the race was Prince John, whom Mattle Corbett has aptly named after the truest of friends and the best-liked of racing men, kindhearted John Kelly. It would have pleased Mr. Kelly's big army of attached personal friends and well-wishers if the colt that had been named after him could have succeeded on the day of Mr. Kelly's return to this city after a journey around the world, but Doggett, the jockey on Prince John, denied them that pleasure. Rarely has Doggett ridden a race so full of blunders. Prince John was the best horse in the race, but came in second.

The interest in the Great Eclipse Stakes of guaranteed value of $20,000 becomes more intense daily. The race will be run on Saturday, and will bring out so strong a field of the cholcest two year-olds in the country that turfmen generally are discussing it with the liveliest anticipations.

On his arm was the charming wife to whom he was married only a few months ago, just before his trip to Europe. As Mr. and Mrs. Keene stepped on the pier they found themselves surrounded by a throng of friends. Colonel Thomas P. Ochiltree was one of

In conversation with a Tribune reporter later Mr. Keene said: "I expected that our youngsters would turn out well, but the remarkable run of success we have had so far has surprised me. This is especially the case with the Great American Stakes, although I always had an idea that Domino would train into a

Mr. Keene was told of the victory achieved by his colt Assignee on Tuesday and was much gratified. Then some one said his Restraint had won a race at Morris Park only a quarter of an hour before the Majestic reached her dock.

"We shall remain at home for the rest of the summer," he said, "and return to England in the summer," he said, "and return to England in the summer,"

The two-year-olds in our far speak for themselves. As the three-year-olds I can say nothing because I have not seen them this year. St. Leonards, the St. Blaise-Belladonna colt, has, I fear. Referring to Isinglass, the winner of the Two Thousand Guineas and Derby, Mr. Keene said:
"Isinglass beyond all question is a good colt. I would not say that he is better than Salvator, and in my opinion he is not as good as was Isonomy, his sire, or Foxhall. Those two horses met and beat his sire, or Foxhall. Those two norses met and outside some of the best horses of the decade, and did so under crushing disadvantages. But Isinglass has had scarcely anything to beat. He can probably give away much weight to anything that has finished behind him. He has done all that was asked of him, won all his races in fine style, and that is all that can be said. As to the turf in England, it is about the same, and the bookmakers are just as hard to beat as ever."

JOHN KELLY'S TRIP AROUND THE WORLD. For the first time in six months John Kelly, whose aimable features are familiar to nearly every racing man East or West, and the number of whose friends is countless, yesterday set foot on American soil.

To-morrow just half a year will have passed since around the world. About fifty of his personal friends -politicians, racing, commercial and professional men-prominent among whom was ex-Mayor Grant, were waiting for him yesterday on the pler, and as he stepped of the gangplank of the Majestic his hand was grasped most eagerly. For the next half hour or so Mr. Kelly did nothing but shake hands, smile and say "Gilt-edged" in reply to the question,

Unquestionably Mr. Kelly is none the worse for his long journey. Perhaps he is a few pounds lighter, but his cheeks glow with ruddy health, his eyes were never so bright and the famous smile was never so beaming

It took Mr. Kelly about three or four hours to recover from the greetings of his friends. He comes back to New-York with vivid impressions of Europe and Asia. His mind is stored with interesting information, he has anecdotes and experiences to relate by the hundred and he has a happy knack of talking in a way that keeps the closest attention of those who hear him. In his long conversations with his friends last evening he spoke with a force, clearness and point that gratified and delighted all those who knew him best.

The uncertainty of racing was never better shown than in the sale of Dr. Rice to Prederick Foster for $5,000. Dr. Rice was a high-class two-year-old and developed into a fine-looking three-year-old. He bled from the nose in his two-year-old form, and had a repetition of the complaint in the Brooklyn Derby. Horsemen considered the celt well sold when Foster took the chances of purchasing him. He won the Withers Stakes, worth over $9,000 to the winner, in handsome style. In Foster's hands he is likely to prove a formidable opponent in the three-year-old division.

David Gideon was a little upset by Dr. Rice's winning although he had bet $200 on the colt. He told his pariner, John Daly, that, with most of the stable mail to race, and with racing every day at Monmouth Park, he expected to weigh about sixty-six pounds when the racing season was over.

Example was a triffe isme after the third race on Taes. The standard of the pounds taken off from the weight which she carried when she gave Yorkville Belle a sound beating on June 2.

James R. Keene was thoroughly disgusted with Lidger-wood's performance in the Withers. He considered him a factor in the race and placed a small commission on him. Assignee ran a game race, straight as a line, and, like all the sons of Spendthrift, is like'y to train on and win races.

TATTERSALLS' LOSES A SUIT. A aut brought by Tattersalls', of New York, against Green B. Morris, the turfnam, to recover $2,100 was tried in the Supreme Court, Brooklyn yesterday, and a verdict for the defendant was returned. In Septema verdict for the defendant was returned. In September, 1890, Morris bought the horse St. Martin at a sale by the plaintiffs at Sheepkhead Bay for $2.100, but two days later found, he says, that the horse was wind-broken, and took him buck. Tattersalls' said it sold the horse for Labold Brothers and allowed Morris take the horse, as he was deemed trustworthy, and said that he admitted ownership, as he asked that the horse be resold on October 15, 1890.

HALL AND MILLER DEFEATED AT NEW-HAVEN. New-Haven, Conn., June 7 (Special).—The second day's play in the New-England tennis tournament here to-day resulted in some fine exhibitions of the here to-day resulted in some fine exhibitions of the game. In the singles everything to the semi-final was disposed of, and in the doubles the first round was played to-day. The surprise of the day was the defeat of itali and Miller, the New-York "crack" layers, by Dodge and Terry, of Yale. Miler and Hall-land been reparted as the probable wanners of the fourmanient doubles, but their hopes met a suddencheck. The cliver playing of Foote, the Yale Treshman, in his match in the singles with Reed, strengthens the impression that he will win a place in the finals. To-day's play resulted as follows:

Morning games, second round in the singles—Foote, of Yale, defeated Necly, of New-York, 6-2, 6-1. Hobart, of New-York, wen from Nichols, of Yale, 6-2, 6-1.
